Pre and Post Surge Solutions for the Next Normal

Surge Capacity

Preparing hospitals and clinics for the many stages of the next normal

1 | TRIAGE STATIONS & TESTING SITES

Converting lobbies and entryways to triage and testing for the next 6–12 months will allow quick isolation for symptomatic persons.

- Soft signage partitions are easily repositioned and offer privacy and separation
- Convertible A-Frame sandwich boards easily change out with updated wayfinding
- Floor decals are the most popular reminders

2 | SCREENING

All will go through screening before entering a facility; those showing symptoms will need testing.

- For speed and simplicity, preprinted 2-4 part forms asking symptoms, medications, self-isolation timelines, travel, quarantine adherence, and contact tracing information
- Colored labels for shirts post-screening with messaging “Cleared for Entry” with initials and date
- For screening and testing in a vehicle, using custom Post-It® Notes on windows for symptomatic questions and direct to separate entrance or parking

3 | VISUAL ALERTS

Reducing facility risk will have informative messaging pre-surge and more inspirational messaging post-surge.

- Posters that can be sanitized (no joke, it's washable)
- Wall, window, or mirror decals large and small reminding with guidelines for wearing masks, general hygiene, and cough etiquette

MINIMIZE EXPOSURE

Designated Spaces

Eliminate contact within different areas to reduce disease transmission:

- Colored floor decals for area separations
- Matching colored badges for staff

Advanced Cleaning

Thorough sanitization measures require off-hours time and access:

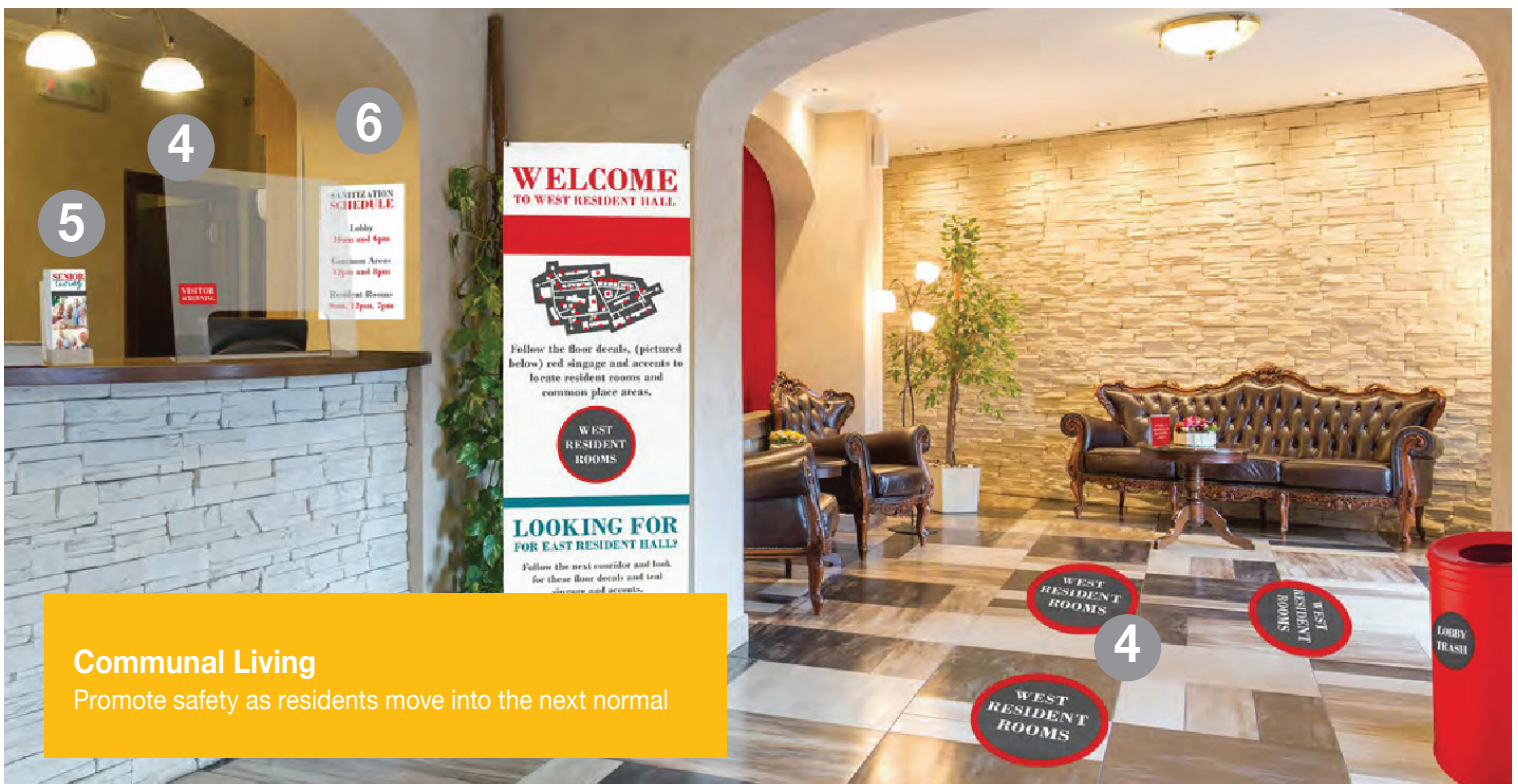

- Publish schedules on door hangers and table tents
- Formalize standards with full color forms using clear directions and accountability

Physical Barriers

Newly engineered products protect front-line employees from exposure:

- Acrylic partitions with appropriate labeling

Communal Living

Promote safety as residents move into the next normal

4 | INFECTION PREVENTION & CONTROL

Stock rooms with supplies for hand hygiene and masks as residents start to move about again. Utilize blue hues for clearest, most visible messaging for most.

- Labels for hand sanitizer and trash cans in common areas plus each resident room and bath
- Posters with large, clear text; utilize sanitizable paper and include these in your routine cleaning
- Floor decals throughout the facility color-coded to designate spacing for symptomatic residents
- Acrylic partitions for reception and nursing stations

5 | PERSONAL COMMUNICATIONS

While printed communications need to be informative, it is also critical for the future of your organization to position yourself as capable, safe, and caring.

- Letterhead for sharing new capabilities for video conferencing with loved ones
- Dedicated brochures and marketing to show new fun activities in the age of social distancing

6 | ENVIRONMENTAL CLEANING

Prominently post your sanitization procedures for the comfort and awareness of staff and residents.

- Removable decals go on the insides of resident doors for cleaning schedules and new procedures
- Share magnets from nursing carts for cleaning procedures as you move through pre- and post-surge
- Safety seals across room doors that can easily tear away when opening the door after cleaning

COMING BACK TOGETHER

Dining Halls

Celebrate slowly opening dining services:

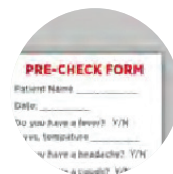

- Removable decals with “Seat/Table Closed”
- Post-It® Notes showing “Sanitized between meals”
- Erasable menu boards or large font washable menus

Activity Rooms

For therapy or enjoyment, these rooms are core to any facility:

- Labels on sanitizer stations outside each common room for resident safety reminders
- Decals on all equipment and supply boxes emphasizing cleaning requirements to staff

Visitors

Outside visits will begin first:

- Yard signs indicate paths with inspirational phrases
- 2–4 part forms for visitor screening and tracking
